ABOUT THE EVENT

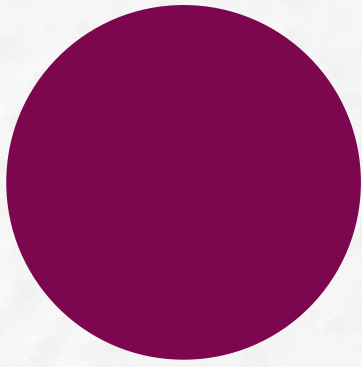

QURECA, TEC12, and INEXU are organising the fourth edition of the largest quantum event in Latin America, which will be held online and in person on October 21, 22, and 23, 2026. This event is specially designed to create awareness and promote quantum technologies in order to build a connected quantum community. Over these 3 days, we will bring together researchers, entrepreneurs, start-ups, and industry collaborators to participate, learn, exchange ideas, connect, network, and grow, becoming part of an ever-growing quantum community in Latin America.

Join us in Colombia!

We will offer an amazing program and industry exhibition!

ORGANISERS

QURECA provides a range of professional services, business development, and the solution to the quantum workforce skills bottleneck: the first online platform for quantum training and resourcing, to support individuals and businesses to be part of the quantum revolution.

In 2019, the Royal Society described QURECA Ltd. as the company that “fills the gaps in the existing quantum community, creating a society ready for quantum through a common language.”

 www.quireca.com

A science and technology-based company focused on integrating emerging technologies across different sectors. It stands out for its strong network of organisations and institutions throughout the Americas, contributing to the integration of computing into society. In recent years, it has been selected to address urban challenges by Ruta N in projects such as AI in Education, Internet of Things, and Data Science in Agriculture.
